Media Arts Council

Inspiring and Cultivating the Arts in Our Community

The Media Arts Council stemmed from a love for creativity, and from an even stronger affinity with this small but lively borough which many proud artists and art-lovers call home. Exploring State Street, it's clear to see the impact that the arts have on Media — from live music playing in cafes and bars, to the boutiques selling local and global handicrafts, to the posters hung up in our windows, advertising events in our galleries, classrooms, and theatres.

It is this creative energy that birthed MAC, and it is this energy that we continue to funnel back into the community, in our own gallery at the west end of State Street, all across town, and virtually during these times of social distancing. MAC is bringing art to you, wherever you are.

About PhotoEx

For this 14th year of our photographic exhibition, images were allowed to be taken from anywhere in the world, while keeping with the theme of H₂O.

Special thanks go to PhotoEx committee members, who have spent the past year planning and implementing the details of the current exhibit.

PhotoEx Committee Members:

Mike Berman
Suzanne Comer
Chris Dietrich
Eileen Newell
John Newell
Bill Patterson
Rick Prieur

Carrie Barcomb, Exhibit Juror:

Carrie uses photography to document and capture the colors and textures of our natural world. She brings a sense of wonder from both small details, as well as vast expansive landscapes, in order to appreciate the beauty of nature and inspire a sense of respect towards our environment.

Carrie's oil paintings are vibrant, colorful, and expressive. As with her photography, she draws inspiration from our natural world and everyday life, and loves to work in all genres from portrait to still-life to landscape. Her landscape subjects vary widely, among them the Adirondack Mountains, coastal Maine, and rural Brandywine Valley.

Carrie graduated from the Maryland Institute, College of Art, and has worked as a technical illustrator and art director for a federal government contractor.

Patrick McMahon Memorial Fund

The members of the PhotoEx Committee express their thanks to Caitlin McMahon for her generosity in establishing the Patrick McMahon Memorial Fund in honor of her late father, who enjoyed photography and regularly attended PhotoEx shows.

Donations made in memory of Patrick were directed by Caitlin to the PhotoEx Committee, and will be used to fund all of this year's cash awards—to juror-chosen images, as well as one that Caitlin has chosen in memory of her father, which she feels he would have enjoyed.
